

Teaching dance to suit all tastes

SO dance . . . if you think you can!

Nicole Bradford, director of The Bradford Dance Academy, encourages her students to let their body move in a fun and creative way through hip hop, cheerleading, funk, tap or jazz styles of dance.

Or, if you prefer, she suggests the more structured styles of contemporary or R.A.D. ballet or maybe even some singing or drama classes.

Either way, she said The Bradford Dance Academy in Manly Vale now offers it all.

Due to demand, the academy has expanded its timetable for this year, offering classes on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

"I'm very excited about the way our 'Tiny Tots Fun-Time' class has grown in the past year," Ms Bradford said.

"It's been especially designed for cheeky and energetic two and three year-old boys and girls".

As a mother of two young girls, Nicole has carefully researched parent needs in providing this class.

Ruby, who has just turned three, will be the first tiny-tot to enrol.

Ms Bradford is also running adult classes on Saturday as well as junior and senior stage classes. The stage class is highly-selective and only available through successful audition.

The Bradford Dance Academy runs classes in both the Manly Vale Community Centre, Lovett St and the Kindy Hall at Innes Road.

"We have a style of dance to suit everyone and believe that dance is a great way to build fitness, confidence and relieve stress," Ms Bradford said.
